

Intrathecal Enzyme Replacement Therapy for Spinal Cord Compression in Mucopolysaccharidosis (MPS) I

Los Angeles Biomedical Research Institute at Harbor-UCLA (LA BioMed), Torrance, California, United States
Helsinki University Central Hospital, Helsinki, , Finland

The investigators are studying the use of enzyme replacement therapy into the spinal fluid for treatment of spinal cord compression in the Hurler-Scheie and Scheie forms of mucopolysaccharidosis I (MPS I). Funding source -- FDA OOPD